HIGHLY ANTICIPATED REPORTS RELEASED

Planned Parenthood Federation Of America Publishes Key Data

Planned Parenthood Federation of America (PPFA) has released an annual report covering its 2011-2012 Fiscal Year. Around the same time the pro-abortion group released a report for 2010-2011, but it covers nothing but financial matters. No details regarding “services” rendered in 2011 were made public other than the few rounded figures found in a PPFA press release:

PPFA released the following statement from Eric Ferrero, Vice President for Communications:

[PPFA] released the following statement from Eric Ferrero, Vice President for Communications:

“The Planned Parenthood annual report for 2010-2011 shows that Planned Parenthood affiliates remain one of the nation’s leading providers of high-quality, affordable health care for women, men, and young people. Planned Parenthood health centers provide nearly three million patients a year with a wide range of preventive health care, including lifesaving cervical cancer screenings, breast exams, Pap tests, STD testing, and birth control. More than 90 percent of Planned Parenthood’s services are preventive care, such as cancer screenings and birth control, and like any other health care provider Planned Parenthood health centers are reimbursed by the government for providing specific preventive services to low-income patients. As has been the case for decades, federal funds are not and cannot be used to provide abortion.”

The Planned Parenthood 2010-2011 annual report shows that more than 750 Planned Parenthood health centers nationwide provided nearly 11 million services to nearly three million people during the year, including:

- birth control information and services to two million patients;
- 585,000 Pap tests, which identified about 82,000 women at risk of developing cervical cancer;
- 640,000 breast exams; and
- nearly 4.5 million tests and treatments for sexually transmitted infections, including HIV tests.

While Ferrero referenced a 2010-2011 “annual report,” no such document was released. As noted above, only a financial report was made available for the period. (We are still working to obtain the unreleased information.)

In 2011 PPFA committed a record 333,964 abortions. Only 2,300 customers were referred to adoption agencies.

With only one exception, the former figure has increased every year. The latter figure has varied widely over the years, but has never come even remotely close to the number of preborn children killed by PPFA abortionists.

¹ PPFA affiliates routinely revise the numbers reported to the national office after the annual report is published. The most up-to-date figures are used herein. ² “Services” are reported on a calendar year basis. ³ An unreported number of females were referred to abortionists outside of Planned Parenthood. ⁴ An examination that aids in the discovery of abnormal growth cells in the cervix. ⁵ A treatment for abnormal growths. ⁶ Affiliates offer general health care services to varying degrees (new category). ⁷ This category does not appear in the report. ⁸ In some past reports statistics regarding this procedure were broken down by gender.

Overall, as far as its so-called “services” are concerned, PPFA has little to brag about. Of the 22 categories included in its report, nine have increased, five have remained relatively stable, and eight have declined. What’s interesting is the kinds of “services” that have landed in each of these three groups (increased/stable/declined).

In 2011 PPFA saw an increase in abortions, adoptions, pregnancy tests, HPV vaccinations, STD test/treatments, HIV tests, sterilizations (both genders), and family practice customers. But the group saw fewer customers for reversible birth control, breast exams/care, Colposcopy, Cryotherapy, “emergency” birth control, pap tests, prenatal care, and “other” procedures/treatments. Most drops were in categories for which PPFa has a well-known reputation, such as reversible birth control, breast examinations, and “emergency” birth control. In fact, these areas have been on the decline for several years. PPFa officials have surely recognized the seriousness of this trend.

“METHOD” ²	2006	2007	2008	2009	2010	2011

None	10.0	9.4	10.0	10.5	11.9	NI ³

¹ Figures are percentages and rounded to the nearest tenth. ² Type selected by Planned Parenthood customers. ³ This category was not included in the PPFa report.

PPFa’s manner of reporting statistics relating to the methods of birth control dispensed to customers has been significantly altered. For example, between 2006 and 2010 figures representing those who chose no birth control (“None”) ranged from 9.4 in 2007 to 11.9 in 2010. PPFa has changed the data it reports so it covers only those customers who actually pick a method. The percentage of people who rejected all of the available forms of birth control is no longer made public. This is understandable since the higher the number in this category, the less influence PPFa has on its customers.

Most of PPFa’s female customers who choose a method of birth control are put on “The Pill,” but the popularity of this method has been on a steady and rather dramatic decline (see Table 2). You will also notice that the figure for “Other/Unreported” greatly increased (8.4 percent in 2010 to 20.8 percent in 2011). We suspect this is where data for the newly omitted categories have been stashed.

With a budget of nearly $1.2 billion, PPFa continues to enjoy mucho dinero. While income generated during the 2011-2012 Fiscal Year was down from the previous year, the difference was insignificant.

¹ Figures are in millions of dollars. ² Financial ties to the Guttmacher Institute, PPFa’s research arm, were cut to advance the false claim that the group is “nonpartisan.”

There are two noteworthy points to be made regarding PPFa’s income over the past few years. The first is that its funds from private sources were down in 2011-2012. This is a measure of PPFa’s popularity among the people who embrace its agenda.

The second point is that more than 45 percent of PPFa’s budget comes from taxpayers, which shows that the end of such funding could have a crippling impact. Planned Parenthood would be forced to “sink or swim” on its own merit; not because the group’s political lapdogs continue to prop it up. And, needless-to-say, PPFa has seen great benefit from the election of Barack Obama in 2008. This support will greatly increase over the next several years.

At the end of the 2010-2011 Fiscal Year (June 30, 2011), PPFa had $155.5 million in “excess revenue over expenses.” Its net assets were $1.377 billion. At the end of the 2011-2012 Fiscal Year (June 30, 2012), PPFa found itself with $87.4 million in “excess revenue over expenses.” Its net assets were just shy of $1.256 billion.

2004-05	2005-06	2006-07	2007-08	2008-09	2009-10	2010-11	2011-12

It is important to note that PPFa has millions of dollars left over after every fiscal year. Just taking into account the excess revenue generated between the 2004-2005 and 2011-2012 Fiscal Years, the total is $643.4 million.

“If I thought for one moment that Planned Parenthood’s budget would allow it to win this war I would be quite depressed, but I would not give up,” said LDI President Douglas R. Scott, Jr. “We are called to be faithful and God will take care of the rest.”

Key Moments In Birth Control

2700 BCE: Evidence indicates that abortions were committed in China under Shennong's rule.

1850 BCE: The Kahun Papyrus, a collection of ancient Egyptian texts, indicates the first use of spermicide, which was a pessary made from crocodile dung and fermented dough.

100-200 AD: A cave painting in Southern France suggests the use of condoms.

1500: Dr. Gabrielle Fallopius of Italy invents a linen condom to help stop the spread of syphilis.

1885: Rubber condoms become available.

1899: The first documented vasectomy is performed.

1916: Planned Parenthood founder Margaret Higgins Sanger begins smuggling diaphragms into the United States.

1920: Latex condoms hit the marketplace.

1928: Gynecologist Ernst Gräfenberg of Germany makes the first intrauterine device (IUD).

1930: The first tubal ligation is performed.

1930: Dr. John Smulders of the Netherlands develops the "rhythm method," the first formal calendar-based birth control.

1960: The U.S. Food & Drug Administration (FDA) approves the "The Pill" (Enovid)—the first oral birth control.

1967: The Depo Provera injection is introduced.

1983: The contraceptive sponge is made available.

1988: The first female condom is sold.

1990: The FDA approves the first IUD with progestogen (IUS Mirena).

1998: The subdermal implant Implanon is made available in Indonesia.

2000: Lunelle becomes the first combined (estrogen [estradiol] and a progestogen [progestin]) injectable birth control approved by the FDA.

2002: The FDA approves Essure for female sterilization.

2006: The FDA approves the subdermal implant Implanon.

"I just cannot imagine God telling His people to remain faithful and continue 'fighting the good fight,' but Christians may give up if His enemies have more money, or more protesters, or more politicians, or more energy, or win more battles, or get better media coverage, or all of the above...God is doing His part; we must do ours."

"SHAME ON YOU"

LDI received a letter from a business owner who is unhappy that his company is a boycott target:

I would like to inform you that you put my company name on your boycott list under false pretenses! You encourage people to write to ask us to stop donating to planned parenthood [sic] and to stop funding abortions—we have some news for you we do NOT donate to planned parenthood [sic] nor fund abortions—do not know where you got the information but it is wrong. How many other companies on your list are wrong?? You need to check your facts before you falsely accuse someone of something that is not true.

You want us to prove to you that we do not donate to planned parenthood [sic]—why don't you prove that we do—where is your proof on any company? You make people pay to get your list, kinda sounds like a scam and you slander and defame innocent companies in the process.

What kind of Christian are you that uses lies to get ahead? I am sure Jesus is very disappointed in you. Shame on you

LDI would have been happy to respond to the businessman and send to him the evidence we had on his company, but the letter was unsigned and the company name was never mentioned. It does not exactly look like the letter-writer really wanted us to respond, particularly since everything published by LDI—without exception—is 100 percent true.

It is not surprising that supporters of Planned Parenthood make false statements to justify their funding decisions and many continue to do so. If LDI were to give an award for the most deceptions/untruths told by a company regarding support of Planned Parenthood, it would be difficult to choose a "winner," but Bank of America and Whole Foods Market would definitely be nominees.

Corporate supporters of Planned Parenthood are not the only people who resort to "shooting the messenger." The tactic has also been embraced by the leaders of several groups that claim to be pro-life when they do not want to end their business relationships with boycott targets.

A MOTTO CAN CHANGE THE COURSE OF HISTORY

SLAVEHOLDERS did not believe everyone should own a slave. They simply thought Northerners should not impose their morality on Southerners. Sounds truly American; "live and let live." You could say slaveholders were PRO-CHOICE.

If slaveholders had come up with the "PRO-CHOICE" mantra in the early 19th century, it could have altered the course of history. Thankfully, they did not.

A ROMANCE-FREE VALENTINE'S DAY

Planned Parenthood of Maryland (PPMD) released a bit of pre-Valentine's Day advice. Take your pill and use a condom. Check out how PPMD promoted the day:

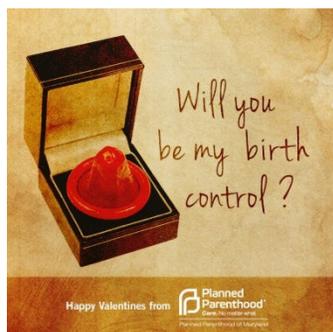

TEXT (left): "Happy Valentines from Planned Parenthood. Care No Matter What. Safe Sex is Best"; TEXT (right): "All you need is love...and condoms. Happy Valentines from Planned Parenthood. Care No Matter What."

TEXT (left): "She could hardly wait...Happy Valentines from Planned Parenthood. Care No Matter What"; TEXT (right): "You+Me+IUD. Happy Valentines from Planned Parenthood. Care No Matter What."

TEXT (left; on candy hearts): "Safer Sex Rules," "Wrap It Up," "Condom 2Nite," "I love condoms."; TEXT (right): "Will you be my birth control?. Happy Valentines from Planned Parenthood. Care No Matter What."

Like you, we are not surprised.

QUOTABLE QUOTE

"It is better to be hated for what you are than to be loved for what you are not."

SAYING GOODBYE

As many of our friends know, Michael Schwartz was the founding chairman of Life Decisions International. He faithfully served in the post for more than a decade. In 1998 Schwartz coauthored "Planned Parenthood and the Culture of Death," one of the first editions of Special Reports released by LDI.

Schwartz

Chief of staff to U.S. Senator Thomas A. Coburn, M.D. (R-Okla.), Schwartz was diagnosed with amyotrophic lateral sclerosis (ALS; also known as "Lou Gehrig's disease") about one year ago. The disease took his life on February 3, 2013. He was 63 years old.

"Michael was an inspiration, a role model, lover of life, brilliant strategist, leader, remarkable mentor, dynamic communicator, loyal and forgiving friend, and one of the most decent people on earth. I loved Michael like a brother. I miss him." said LDI President Douglas R. Scott, Jr. "God must need some great talent in Heaven."

LDI is preparing a tribute to Michael for an upcoming edition of Special Reports.
